- We resolve conflicts directly with the individual responsible for the concern in a confidential manner, approaching the discussion with an open mind.
- We will honor due process.
- We differentiate the person from the issue, sharing facts and expressing feelings in a constructive way.
- We seek options for mediation when necessary.
- We approach conflict as a patient listener, honoring viewpoints different from our own.
- We take time to properly define the problem before rushing to solutions.
- We collaboratively create viable options to solve the problem.
- We clearly communicate the resolution.
